NORMAL ENROLMENT SHOWS A BIG GAIN

Increase This Year Is More Than 15 Per Cent—Twenty-Four Counties Are Represented

Five hundred and forty-four students, an increase of more than 15 per cent over the enrolment during the entire fall quarter a year ago, were enrolled during the first week of the present session of the Cheney Normal school. Twenty-four counties of Washington, nine states, the territory of Alaska and the British Isles are represented in the student body. Seventy-seven non-state students are registered, 42 of whom are from Idaho.

Forty-two students have come from the southeastern part of the state, comprising the counties of Walla Walla, Columbia, Garfield and Asotin. More than the usual number of students have come from the Wenatchee district. Kittitas, the home of the Ellensburg normal, is the only east side county not represented.

Spokane county, as usual, has contributed the largest number. Whitman county is second, Lincoln third and Stevens fourth.

There is a slight increase in the number of men enrolled this year. Several of them have had one or two years of college work. Every effort has been made by the administration this year to obtain work for men students, and it is believed that half of those enrolled are earning at least part of their expenses.

A segregation by counties of the first week's enrolment shows the following:

Spokane, 238; Whitman, 68; Lincoln, 38; Stevens, 22; Pend Orielle, 4; Ferry, 8; Okanogan, 1; Chelan, 7; Douglas, 1; Yakima, 6; Benton, 1; Klickitat, 3; Grant, 10; Franklin, 2; Adams, 15; Walla Walla, 14; Columbia, 4; Asotin, 7; Lewis, 2; King, 3; Skagit, 3; Snohomish, 2; Pierce, 1.

Non-state students are segregated as follows:

Idaho, 42; Montana, 10; Oregon, 17; Wisconsin, 1; Alaska, 1; Massachusetts, 1; Texas, 1; North Dakota, 1; Minnesota, 1; Great Britain, 2.

Contrary to expectation, 51.1 per cent of the students are "old" students; that is, students who have been in residence at least one quarter before. Many who attended during the summer, with the expectation of taking the teachers' examination, have decided to return and complete the course for the elementary certificate.

A check of the non-state students enrolled shows that 50 per cent of them have attended the institution before. The percentage of non-state students in attendance this year is virtually the same as that of last year, which means that there has been an increase in numbers.

More Students Enrol

Nineteen students, making a total of 563, enrolled in the Normal school Monday. They are as follows:

Michael E. Schroder, Kettle Falls; Ethel Shoemaker, Elberton; Nobel Redmond, Spokane; Lester Harris, Tyler; Roy Harris, Tyler; Margaret Grace Shepherd, Walla Walla; Omer Pence, Cheney; Lester Pence, Cheney; Mrs. Cora B. Owen, Opportunity; Edwin Henderson, Colfax; Dorothy Rauch, Chewelah; Estella Blanchett, Quincy; Ted Garred, Coulee; Floyd Futter, Farmington; Muriel Jenkins, Baker, Ore.; Laurel Jenkins, Baker, Ore.; Florence Chapman, Spokane; La Vaughn Mann, Walla Walla; Gordon McDonald, Cheney.

WANTED—199 ORGAN PLEDGES

At the opening of school, two weeks ago, 200 more pledges were needed to raise the organ fund to $5,000. One pledge has since been received from W. E. Frink of Douglas. One hundred and ninety-nine more are needed to put the fund "over the top" by January 1.

One year ago today the pipe organ committee had scarcely $1500. Today the committee has more than $4,000 in cash, bonds and pledges. The gain during the year has amounted to more than $2500—a very creditable showing. Most of it has come in small amounts from former students of the school.

The slogan adopted by the committee—"An Organ Built With Dimes"—has met such a ready response that the campaign for the remaining $700 will be continued on the same plan. The committee wants a great many former students—hundreds of them, in fact—to buy a small interest in the pipe organ. The organ should be the gift of the entire alumni association of the institution.

Within the next two months the committee plans to make a thorough canvass of Eastern Washington and to give a final opportunity to former students of the Normal school to contribute to the fund. Every effort will be made by the faculty and the student body to save money for the organ between now and January 1. Twenty-five per cent of the earnings of the auditorium will go to the organ fund.

With each pledge of $3.60 is included a subscription to the Journal for the current school year.

The committee believes that the interest already shown is a guarantee that the remaining months of the campaign will be successful—Pipe Organ Committee.

FOOTBALL CAPTAIN RETURNS TO SCHOOL

Stanley Wynstra, Only Letter Man of Last Year, Trying for Quarter Back—Game in Two Weeks

Captain Stanley Wynstra, only letter man of last year's football team, returned to school this week and is working at his old position at quarterback. Several other men of experience, including Henderson of Colfax, are also turning out. Suits have been issued to 35 men.

The county conference schedule was not completed last week, as Coach Eustis had anticipated, and he believes it unlikely that the Normal team will play any game before October 13.

Before the first game the bleachers that were built for the gymnasium at the time of the high school basketball tournament will be transferred to the football field. Seating accommodations can thus be afforded about 250 spectators.

STUDENT COST IS DECREASED BY $97

Increased Enrolment at Cheney Normal Reduces Cost—No Addition to Faculty or Floor Space

Increased enrolment at the Cheney Normal school the last year has resulted in a decreased per student cost of $97, according to figures compiled recently. The per student cost last year was $211.32. The increase was cared for without adding anything to the floor space of the institution and without any faculty increase.

Last year 1385 students were enrolled, representing 28 counties of Washington and several other states. The carrying load of the institution was 689.

CURRICULA BOARD PAYS NORMAL VISIT

Purpose of Board Is to Study Cost of Higher Education.—Recommend Millage Tax.

The Joint Board of Higher Curricula of Washington will visit the Normal school today. This board, created by act of the legislature of 1917, amended in 1919, consists of seven members, as follows:

Chairman, L. D. McArdle, director of the state department of efficiency, Olympia; W. H. Abel, Montesano; Fred K. Jones, Spokane; Dudley G. Wooten, Seattle; Henry Suzzallo, president University of Washington; E. O. Holland, president Washington State college, and George H. Black, president State Normal school, Ellensburg.

Studying the costs of higher education in Washington, with a view to preventing unnecessary duplication and effecting economy, is the purpose of the board. The board will also make recommendations respecting changes in the millage tax. A part of section 1, chapter 142, laws of 1921, reads:

"It shall be the duty of the Joint Board of Higher Curricula, in the report to be made next preceding the convening of the legislature in 1925, to recommend any changes in levy herein provided for which the said board may deem necessary or proper, and to give their specific grounds and reasons therefor, for the purpose of having the levy herein provided for readjusted by the legislature of 1925."

The Teacher Today

Today we are told that education is training for citizenship. If this be true—and surely no one will deny it—it is a challenge to every teacher in the state and nation to take up the burden of her citizenship as an example to the "citizens in the making" before whom she stands each day.

The day is past when teachers are expected to sit passively by while citizens from other walks of life plan for the community and for the state. We can not be educators in the fullest sense if we do not accept the responsibilities of citizenship. The public has been aroused to a greater degree than ever before to the paramount importance of education and has issued a challenge to the teaching profession. How shall we answer it? By giving of ourselves the "last full measure of devotion" to our work; by giving nothing less than 100 per cent of efficiency; by placing teaching standards at the very highest mark commensurate with educational conditions in our state.

So many big things in education and public matters in general are waiting to be done this year that no good citizen can sit by and not be moved to action. The public is looking to us for leadership in the matters pertaining to education and for real, live, aggressive cooperation in all public matters.—Mrs. Minnie D. Bean.

Normal School Policy

1. For the best interests of both students and citizens Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights should be quiet nights and not used for social affairs. Citizens have a right to freedom from disturbance of students and students must have time for quiet study. Visiting of students on these nights is nearly always harmful to the efficiency of the school and should not be indulged in. It has been found that 10:30 at night for retiring secures comfort to the community and health and efficiency to the student body.

When it is necessary to place lectures or other events on quiet nights, students should understand that quiet hours begin immediately after the event is concluded; and that walking, visits to ice cream parlors or elsewhere are not desirable.

Housekeepers are expected to cooperate in maintaining this policy and report any infringement.

2. Friday and Saturday nights ought to be sufficient for the social life of students. All students and citizens are asked to cooperate in placink social events on these nights only—or, if necessary on other nights, at some hour before 8 o'clock.

3. Society has set certain conventions, the violation of which shows lack of regard for one's best reputation. It is good form for young people to be chaperoned at parties, picnics and rides, or any social function. This is for the protection against unkindly remarks and for the best interests of all, and in no sense intended to restrain legitimate pleasure. The chaperone should be approved by the dean of women. Housekeepers are urged to cooperate in this matter.

4. Since all students are here as prospective teachers, their amusements and conduct should be such as befit teachers in actual work in a community, and afford a good example for those whom they will teach.

5. Rules for conduct in the home should be such as would be courteous anywhere. No one should go out for an evening, or over night, or leave town, without giving proper information to the housekeeper; nor, if unavoidably detained, should a student fail to send word if possible. A proper consideration by both student and housekeeper for each other's comfort would make rules unnecessary. Young men need to give as careful attention to such matters as young women, and those persons of mature years who fail to consider these courtesies often cause much needless worry.

6. The independence of young men and women is desired to the fullest extent, where it does not interfere with the welfare of the community or the efficiency of the school. We believe that the Normal school policy is necessary for efficiency and that no student who has come for serious study can do his best work without some such policy. Therefore, if students and housekeepers will cooperate in maintaining these standards, the moral, social, physical and intellectual welfare of the entire community will be conserved. As this school expects to support its students in securing good positions, we expect and ask the loyal support of every student in maintaining our standards.

7. A scholarship rule, passed by the faculty, states that any student failing in 50 per cent of his class work is eliminated from the school by virtue of his own act.

Another unwritten rule is that any student whose conduct or standards are unsuitable to the teaching profession cannot be certificated by this school.

Students who do exceptionally good work are placed on the "honor" list, dependent on scholarship, health and attitude.

All students are expected to attend assembly each day and regular seats are assigned.

Jimmie's Letter

Dear Mr. Showalter—Well you remember in the last letter I wrote to you that I said I was thinking about writing to the local paper and telling the people what I thought of this here town. Well, I've gone and did it and the letter will be printed in this weeks paper. Last week I went around and told the editor what I was thinking about and he said sure thing, go ahead and write an article for the paper and last week he told the people that something good was coming up for them this week. This is what he said, Mr. Showalter.

Readers of this paper have a treat in store for them next week. One of the bright young men who has just come into our midst and accepted a position in the local schools as teacher of manual training and physical training has consented to favor this paper with a contribution on a subject of his own choosing. As this young man has been trained in the Cheney normal, it goes without saying that what he will write will be of particular interest to the people of this community.

Well, just as soon as I had read that I set right down and begun to write. Something like that gives you a real inspiration and I'm sure that I wrote a whole lot better article than I would of wrote if he hadnt of said what he did. Heres the article just as I wrote it and I told him to be sure and not change anything or I wouldnt be responsible and he said that he wasnt in the habit of changing copy and for me not to worry. Next week I'll send you a copy of the paper so you can read it for yourself but it will be just like this.

Dear Editor—Since coming into this here town I've noticed a lot of things that sure need attention. In fact I'm almost persuaded that this community aint progressive like a lot of others that I might mention. What have you got to be proud of, anyway? There aint no city park where people can go and set on Sundays and the streets are all dirty and the sidewalks chipped and the trees look like as if theyd never had been pruned and all in all it kind of makes you homesick when you think about having to stay here for nine months at a time.

There ought to be tennis courts here and a good atheletic field where you can take your team out and give them a fair chance to do something. How do you expect a coach no matter how efficient he is to turn out a winning team when he aint got no more support from the community thats supposed to be backing him than youve gave me. You cant do it thats all there is to it. But I'm here to show what can be done in the face of difficulties and before long you can be sure that this school is going to be talked about a lot.

I'm no hand to make a fuss about little things that dont amount to nothing but when theres a principal at stake I sure can put up a pretty scrap and before the year is over, if youll just get behind me and push therell be something doing in this town. We will have a reputation all over the country thatll make us stand out more prominently than your commercial club has ever did. What I want is backing and I mean to get it too.

Well I aint quite sure that I made the article strong enough but I sure hope theyll understand what I'm driving at. You know that when youre writing an article for the newspaper you have to be diplomatic and not say something thats to pointed and thats what makes me think that I toned down the article so much it aint going to have no kick in it. One of the duties of a teacher is to make people think and I'm determined to do it or I'll feel at the end of the year that I aint earned my money.

Yours truly,

—Jimmie

On Growing Old

A little more tired at close of day;
A little less anxious to have our way;
A little less ready to scold and blame,
A little more care for a brother's name;
And so we are nearing the journey's end,
Where time and eternity meet and blend.

A little less care for bonds and gold,
A little more zest in the days of old,
A broader view and a saner mind,
And a little more love for all mankind;
And so we are faring adown the way
That leads to the gates of a better day.

A little more love for the friends of youth,
A little less zeal for established truth,
A little more charity in our views,
A little less thirst for the daily news;
And so we are folding our tents away
And passing in silence at close of day.

A little more leisure to sit and dream,
A little more real the things unseen,
A little nearer to those ahead,
With visions of those long loved and dead;
And so we are going to where all must go,
To the place the living must never know.

A little more laughter, a few more tears,
And we shall have told our increasing years;
The book is closed, and the prayers are said,
And we are a part of the countless dead.
Thrice happy, then, if some soul can say:
"I live because he has passed my way."
—Rollin J. Wells

Discuss Debate Matters

Negotiations looking to a permanent agreement among the Normal schools of the state regarding the annual debate for the Allison cup are now under way. Means of selecting the question and the judges, as well as questions of eligibility, are being considered. The Normal school has already won the cup for two successive years. A victory this year will entitle the Cheney institution to permanent possession of the cup.

May Present Opera Soon

Presentation of an operetta or cantata later in the quarter is being discussed by Mrs. Grace Hulscher of the music department.

"We need two more first basses and three second basses in order to fill the boys' glee club and make an operetta possible," said Mrs. Hulscher this morning.

Much interest and enthusiasm are being shown in glee club work this quarter, according to the club director, and there is an especially good aggregation of well balanced voices.

Thirty-four Get Certificates

Thirty-four members of the summer school penmanship classes who wrote the required examination were successful and have been awarded teachers' certificates by the A. N. Palmer company, whose text is being used in the classes. They are Marguerite Byars, Ruth H. Chittenden, C. Janett Craig, Luella G. DeWitz, Elizabeth M. Engdahl, Gladys I. Gooch, Jessie I. Find Hawaii Interesting

Mrs. Grace Hulscher and Miss Flora Davidson, who have just returned from a vacation trip to the Hawaiian Islands, have many pleasant stories to relate of their visit.

"We had a wonderful trip; the scenery is gorgeous, the weather delightful and the people most cordial," said Mrs. Hulscher.

While both Mrs. Hulscher and Miss Davidson spoke enthusiastically of the hospitality of the natives, the beauties of their land and climate, both admitted being very glad to return to Cheney, where northern atmosphere is more conducive to activity than the semi-tropical islands.

Senior Hall Elects

Hazel Kidder has been elected president of Senior Hall for this quarter. Other executives of the senior dormitory are: Gertrude Fehmer, vice president; June McChesney, secretary-treasurer; Geraldine Hodgins, reporter; Hazel Rayburn, yell leader; Laura Karn, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Girls attending such functions must leave the address—street and number or name of hostess—with the director if they are living in private homes. Cooperation is asked in refraining from unnecessary visiting on Sunday night out of deference to the day.

VALUABLE PAPERS FOR NORMAL LIBRARY

Mayor Rolfe Donates Files of Old Cheney Newspapers.—Account of Normal Opening.

Thirty-two years ago next month, October 13, 1890, the doors of the Normal school were opened for the first time to receive students. For 10 years thereafter the school passed through a stormy career, being twice threatened with extinction through executive veto of legislative appropriations. Newspaper accounts of those times, which recently have come into the possession of the Normal school, furnish many sidelights of interest to those connected with the school.

Files of old Cheney papers, extending well back into territorial days, have been donated to the Normal school library by Mayor N. A. Rolfe. A special cabinet is being made in order that they may be preserved.

The file of the Cheney Sentinel for 1897 is complete, and many issues for 1896 and 1899 are also available. These papers are replete with information concerning the Normal school, written at a time when the existence of the institution was in doubt.

The issue of the Cheney Sentinel for Friday, October 17, 1890, gives the following account of the opening of the Normal school on October 13, 1890:

"School opened Monday, October 13.

"The following constitute the faculty: W. W. Gillette, principal; W. J. Sutton, W. C. Stone and Miss Mattie C. Hammond.

"The first three days were devoted to the entrance examinations. Most of those who applied were successful.

"The outlook for a very large attendance next term is very promising.

"The school opens with a good attendance and fully as large as was expected for the first of the week.

"The fact that the school has been so little advertised accounts for so few from a distance being here at the opening. The advantages of the school could not be understood until after the catalogues were issued. The catalogues are now complete and are being distributed throughout the state."

Sea Captain (to one of many leaning over the rail)—Weak stomach, my lad?

Boy (nervously)—Why, aint I putting it as far as the rest of them?—Octopus.

Judge—If I grant you this divorce will you marry again right away?

Applicant (blushing)—Oh, Judge, this is so sudden!

Dick—What do you mean "She has teeth like the stars?"

Hank—They come out at night.

"What is a modernist painter?"
"An artist who would paint Paul Revere riding through Middlesex in a Ford."
